

Submitting "Casual Round" Scores

Under the new World Handicap System inputting your casual round scores to build up your playing history and handicap record is much easier and is encouraged. We have enabled our handicap system to support this feature and you can all now use it.

To use the system you need to be registered with HowDidIDo (until we get back in the clubhouse).

BEFORE YOU PLAY

Login to HowDidIDo

Click on "Todays Golf"

Click "Sign In"

Sign In to Casual Round

On completion of your round go back to Todays Golf, click "score entry" and input your score.

Your handicap will automatically update at midnight on the day you submit your score.

Then take a photograph of your signed scorecard, with the name of your marker on it, and send it to either CGCMenscomps@gmail.com (Men), or CGCLComps@gmail.com (Ladies).

Note if you sign in, you MUST submit a score, (you can abandon after 9 holes in poor weather), if you don't we HAVE to penalise you (EGU rules) unless you provide us with a good reason.

Your "Marker" must have a recognised handicap, and you must play to qualifying competition rules, so no preferred lies TTG, not on temporary greens.

Once we're back in the clubhouse you can either use HDID or the new PSI device which is going in the competitions area outside the men's changing room and just put your card in your usual cards box please mark it very clearly as casual round so it doesn't get mixed up with any competitions ones.

If you make a mistake or have any difficulties just email either of the above email accounts and we'll sort it out for you.

We will review, regularly via our software system (usually weekly), any scores which do not meet the above criteria will be deleted.

The England Golf App has now been updated to provide the same functionality and also the ability to submit casual rounds on other courses, the arrangements above will continue to be applicable.

Happy Golfing!
